

Rainbow

A rainbow may be the most refreshing sights during a rainy day? Ever wondered who creates them? Water has to have a role! White light (science tells us!) is actually a mixture of different colour components. Water particles in the atmosphere split the white light into its constituents creating Rainbows.

The Sun is always behind you when you see a Rainbow. Have you noticed!?

Next Fact >>
Water in our Body